

Requires technical awareness, experience and product knowledge being translated into feasible design proposals and developed positive outcomes.

To be competitive, we need to have an understanding of procurement strategy, logistics, fabrications and assembly. We must understand the relevance of best design practices as, for example, embodied in the principles of CDM.

G5F will point out any non-compliances and offer solutions that do meet Specifications. Our Clients are always made aware of our recommendations, wherever possible providing solutions and alternatives to look into.

Clients need confidence in design and commercial certainty to the extent that what has been tendered can actually be provided within budget. No surprises.!

We strive to make our tenders clear, concise and practical to follow. We want our Clients to readily understand what we will deliver, what is the cost and what the payment stages, and other delivery milestones, are.
